Join us Fridays at 5:45pm

MARCH 4
Dahlia Flute Duo
Mary Matthews, flute; Melissa Wertheimer, piccolo
Distinguished Peabody graduates Mary Matthews and Melissa Wertheimer perform Telemann’s Sonata in A Major; Kuhlau’s Grand Duet in E Minor; Debussy’s “Snowflakes are Dancing” (Children’s Corner No. 4); Linda Dusman’s “An Unsubstantial Territory,” and Shulamit Ran’s Sonatina.

APRIL 1
Vinca Quartet
Jessica Tong, Aaron Requiro, violins; Laura Seay, viola; An-Lin Bardin, cello
Praised for their “stunning” musicianship (New York Times), this brilliant group of Peabody graduates has risen to the top of American chamber music with their youthful flamboyance and innovative programming. They perform Beethoven’s String Quartet No. 8 in E minor, Op. 59, No. 2, “Razumovsky” and Bartok’s String Quartet No. 3.

MAY 6
Jazz Duo: Kevin B. Clark & Steve Synk
Kevin B. Clark, guitar; Steve Synk, bass
Gifted and accomplished Peabody students Kevin B. Clark and Steve Synk perform music from the standard jazz repertoire by Cole Porter, Duke Ellington, Joe Henderson, and others in addition to several of their own original compositions, including Clark’s “S” and Synk’s “A Supposedly Fun Thing.”

The museum opens at 5pm for concert guests, and performances are followed by meet-the-artist receptions.
Series Subscribers & Members enjoy savings!

Not a Member yet?
Join today at museums.jhu.edu

The 2011 Peabody at Homewood concert season is made possible in part by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh P. McCormick.

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

3-CONCERT SERIES:
- $30 Members
- $40 non-Members
- $20 Students*

SINGLE CONCERTS:
- $12 Members
- $15 non-Members
- $8 Students*

Seats are limited, and advance purchase is recommended:
410.516.5589

* full-time with ID

Museum admission and a reception included!
Visit museums.jhu.edu for directions, parking and additional information.

Printed on paper containing 100% recycled with 50% post-consumer fiber.
Images: homewoodphotography.jhu.edu